"WADE AND BUTCHER!"

exclaimed Gonsalvo Goggins as he caught sight of the inscription on a razor that was recently bathed in the best blood at Curchin's barber-shop—"Well I should say you might 'wade' if you 'butcher' them as you have me," and he strode from the sanitary Curchin's with a piece of his chin in his hand big enough to feed a cat on. G. G. now gets shaved by one of my six gentle beard-mowers, without a scratch.

Experience of A. and B. in Getting their Winter's Shavings.

A. to B.: Where do you find shavings to kindle with? I dread to commence the task: first, I am obliged to find barrels enough to hold what I want; then I must look around for a team to go and get them, then I find after they are hauled, that some of them are dry, some partly and more perfectly green. After they are in the shed, there is no room for any thing else.

B's answer to A. Why you need not get excited over a little matter of that kind. You need simply to drop a postal card to C. L. Snow, Bangor, Me., and he will send you a bale of poplar wood shavings, compressed in bundles like excelsior, that will not take up any more room than the barrel and be equal in quantity to twenty and more; he guarantees if they are not perfectly dry, he charges nothing for them. So all you are obliged to do, is to keep his address in your mind.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

Over four hundred more cases of shoes have been shipped this week from the shoe factories in Lewiston and Auburn, than were shipped the corresponding week last year.

Cumberland.

Mr. Wm. G. Twombly, of Portland, received a dispatch Thursday from Fort Worth, Texas, announcing the death of his brother, Royal T. Twombly. The news was quite unexpected. He had been ill, but no immediate serious results were apprehended. Deceased was a gentleman much respected by all who knew him. He was a native of Maine and visited his old home last summer. His age was seventy-two and he leaves children.

In our issue of September 29th, says the Portland Press, we announced the death by drowning of a man named Silas N. Noble, at Harrison. Since his death, reports were current that Noble was murdered, and Mr. Caleb A. Chaplin, of Harrison, thought it advisable to call upon Coroner Gould. The coroner proceeded to Harrison and ascertained that on Saturday, September 26th, Noble, who had been working in the corn shop, went on a spree with a man named Davis. Both men got full and took a leaky boat, without oars, and breaking a thwart for paddles, went floating round the river. They got on to the rocks, and then off again. The boat kept leaking badly, and the men had to both bail and paddle. Finally, Noble made a lurch and went overboard, capsizing the boat, and was drowned. Davis managed to hold on to the stern of the boat and by treading water got ashore. The surgeons thought from the appearance of Noble's head, when the body was recovered, that he might have met with rough treatment, but the coroner was satisfied that the injuries were received by the body banging against the rocks. A jury was impanelled and after a two days' session hearing all the evidence, found a verdict of accidental drowning. Mr. Chaplin was foreman of the jury.

Hancock.

Of the seven vessels which fitted at Orland and went to the Banks, five have returned. One was left on the banks in a sinking condition, the crew coming home by way of Newfoundland. One has not been reported since some time in June. The five which came back brought about 6,900 quintals of A1 codfish. These have been, or are being, cured for the market. Fish are selling better than last year; hence the prospect is that those engaged in the fishing business will make something. In addition to the fish about sixty barrels of oil were secured. Sixty-two men were employed.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Warren, of Portland, Oregon, after an absence of twenty-five years, have recently visited Ellsworth, their former home.

A man drove into Ellsworth, Saturday, with two horses so old and poor that their use was a violation of the law to prevent cruelty to animals. The attention of City Marshal John H. Bresnahan being called to the matter, he had the poor old horses shot, and all the people said "amen."

Mrs. Sarah M. Cummings, widow of the late Clement P. Cummings, of Jonesport, met with an accident on Tuesday morning of last week, at Bar Harbor, between five and six o'clock, which terminated in her death about three o'clock in the afternoon of that day. Mrs. Cummings has been residing with her son Thomas, in Bar Harbor. A few days ago she engaged to do household work for Mr. Everett Brewer, on Atlantic Avenue. On Tuesday morning she kindled a fire in a cook stove which did not burn very briskly, and she took a glass tin-cased oil can containing about a half gallon of kerosene and poured a portion of its contents into the stove. While in the act of doing so the flames burst up and the oil can exploded. She was then enveloped in flames and before assistance reached her, her clothing was entirely consumed, her hair burned from the head and every inch of her body had been reached by the fire. A physician was summoned and did all that medical skill could do to alleviate the sufferings of the unfortunate woman, but she died on the same afternoon, about nine hours after the accident. Mr. Thomas Cummings was absent in Machias, at the time, and was informed of the melancholy occurrence by telegraph. He arrived there on Wednesday morning and took the remains on the City of Richmond, to Machias for interment.

Kennebec.

Mrs. John Reed, of Winslow, fell dead, Tuesday, while churning.

There has been considerable anxiety in town since the burning of the spool factory of the Golder Brothers, as to whether they would rebuild their spool factory at Belgrade; but all doubt has been removed by H. W. Golder, Esq., purchasing the interest of his brother, Thos. S., to build a new factory on the spot where the old one was burned. He will thoroughly repair the old dam before the erection of the new building. The water power at Belgrade Mills is one of the best and safest in New England, it being the outlet of Great Pond, which has a surface of more than ten thousand acres. The proprietor of the new factory, Henry W. Golder, is one of the most enterprising and successful business men in the county of Kennebec.

William Ayer fell out of an apple tree at Jonathan Pinkham's on the Belgrade road, and broke an arm, Tuesday.

Knox.

Capt. Chas. Allen, of Rockland, who was taken suddenly insane in the spring of 1883, is now failing rapidly in physical health, and will probably not survive long.

Wednesday night of last week was an unfortunate one for horses in Rockland. One of C. A. Keene's valuable livery horses stepped into a bad place on the Camden road near Clam Cove, and fell. He was unharnessed and as the driver drew the carriage back the horse sprang up and scampered into the city, where he plunged into an open trench left by the Water Company, and broke his neck. The same evening a horse of Ulmer & Orbeton's was heedlessly driven into a trench, but was not very seriously damaged.

Piscataquis.

Messrs. Dyer & Hughes have just received an order for nine of their popular organs for Australia. They are now employing some thirty hands at their factory. The present outlook for their business is good.

John S. Morgan, who has been overseeing the farming on the Frank Silver farm in Garland, since Mr. Silver's death last spring, has just harvested 175 bushels of potatoes fit for market, and twenty-five bushels of small ones with a few that were rotten, from a piece of ground 5x15 rods, thus being five rods less than half an acre. Variety, Beauty of Hebron, mostly, and had they been all that kind, he thinks there would have been two hundred bushels of good ones.

Schoodic Lake, says a correspondent of the Lewiston Journal, is about six miles northeast of Milo, and is said by good judges to be the handsomest sheet of water in the State. It is about ten miles in length, and in breadth from two to five miles, and is surrounded by the native forest mostly of hard wood growth. The banks gradually slope to the water; the water is pure, and very transparent, and the bottom of the lake can be seen very distinctly, at quite a distance from the shore. It has been quite a resort for fishermen, as the lake is well stocked with trout, some very large ones having been taken. It has been difficult of access, as there has not been any road within a mile of it until recently. About one year ago, Mr. Zebulon Stanchfield purchased a small steamer, and put it on the lake, and he has the present season constructed a handsome and substantial barge, and has made a road, so that carriages can go to the lake. On Tuesday of this week, a party of the citizens of Milo accepted his invitation, and enjoyed the pleasure of a sail in his new barge and were much delighted with the trip. Mr. Stanchfield deserves much credit for his enterprise; no doubt Schoodic Lake will become quite a resort for pleasure seekers in the future.

Somerset.

The fly-wheel attached to the engine in the Kennebec Framing Company's Mill at Fairfield, burst, Wednesday, but no one was hurt. The fragments flew 100 feet into the air, breaking through the floors and roof of the mill. Several workmen narrowly escaped instant death. The wheel was of iron, fourteen feet in diameter and two feet face, and weighed about seven tons. This accident will stop the mill about one week. It comes in a bad time, for the work at the mill was never more driving than it is now.

Waldo.

McDonald & Brown, of Belfast, will build a small vessel immediately, to be commanded by Capt. George Sargent, of schooner Flora Grindle. The schooner will be 77 feet on the keel, 29 feet beam, and seven feet deep, and about 125 tons carpenter's measurement. She will be used chiefly in the granite business in the employ of Mr. C. J. Hall, of Belfast.

Force of habit is strong in both man and beast. This was noticeable one day last week. Two young ladies in Belfast hired a horse at Dunbar's stable to attend the Waldo County Agricultural fair. The animal had been used on the hearse, and when the girls arrived at Grove cemetery the horse turned in at the gate and they could not stop him. The horse marched down Central Avenue the entire length of the cemetery, but the girls at last got him pointed toward the gate and drove out.

A building at West Frankfort, owned by Rev. Atwood F. Brown, and occupied by J. W. Hobbs as a store and postoffice, was burned on Sunday morning with its entire contents. Mr. Hobbs and family were absent at the time, and when the fire was discovered the flames had made rapid progress. The origin of the fire is unknown, but a roll of cloth found in the bushes leads some to think the store might have been burglarized and fired. Mr. Hobbs was postmaster and lived in the same building. He was insured on stock and furniture $1,500, The building was insured for $700.

Mr. James Treat, of Frankfort, seems to have had a little ill luck. While mowing grain, Friday, with a machine, one horse became frightened and backed, cutting his leg just below the fetlock, injuring him so he will be useless for quite a while. Saturday afternoon, after finishing mowing and as he was putting up the bars his horses took fright and ran about a half a mile, part of the way being down a steep hill until they turned a corner, demolishing the machine and clearing themselves from it; fortunately neither of the horses were injured.

Young Men's Christian Association.

THE NINETEENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION TO BE HELD IN BANGOR NEXT WEEK.

The following is the announcement of the dates on which the nineteenth annual convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of Maine is to be held in this city, together with the programme of the convention and other information in regard to the hotel rates and railroad rates, for the benefit of the delegates who may wish to attend:

BANGOR, Me., Sept. 30, 1885.

To the Associations of Maine:

Dear Brethren—The Nineteenth Annual Convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations of Maine, is called to meet at Bangor, Oct. 22—25, in the Columbia street Baptist Church, where the day sessions and organization meetings will be held.

All delegates, or duly appointed representatives of churches where no Associations exist, will report to the Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, Kenduskeag Bridge, near the Post Office. We urge the General Secretaries and officers of Associations to secure large delegations.

We shall have in this convention the aid of persons of large experience in the work, from New York, Boston, St. John, N. B., and other places, besides many from our own and other States.

Pastors and representative members of Evangelical churches where no Associations are organized, are cordially invited to attend the Convention.

The Bangor Association and the people of the "Queen City" assure us of a hearty welcome and free entertainment, to all properly accredited persons.

We most earnestly desire that you unite with us in humble supplication at the Throne of Grace, for God's abundant blessing to rest upon the entire convention, that at each of its sessions the guidance and power of the Holy Spirit may be richly manifested, and as a means to this end that special prayer be offered at all Association meetings, especially those held on the Sunday before the Convention convenes, that we may have the blessed privilege of seeing many young men giving themselves unto Him who died to redeem them; and that the outcome of this convention may be the means of a great spiritual blessing to the city in which we meet and the State at large.

F. A. CURTIS, Chairman.
J. A. GAULD, Cor. Secretary.
J. A. DOLE, Treasurer.

N. B.—To ensure entertainment, a list of delegates from each Association and church to be represented must be forwarded to James A. Gauld, General Secretary of the Bangor Association, not later than October 15th.

PROGRAMME.

Thursday Evening.—Welcome Meeting at the First Congregational Church, 8.00 o'clock.

Friday Morning.—9.00 to 9.15 A. M., Devotional Exercises. 9.15 to 12.30, Organization Session of Convention. Topics—"Five minute written reports from the different Associations of the State." Whig and Courier.

BOUTELLE & BURR, PROPRIETORS.

C. A. BOUTELLE, EDITOR.

All business letters should be addressed to "Boutelle & Burr, and communications intended for publication should be addressed: "Editor of Whig and Courier."

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1885.

Senator Eustis looks upon the result in Ohio as a rebuke to the President and is therefore content.

Gen. Butler is quoted as saying he should "think New York might go Republican now by 75,000." Now let the Democratic tiger howl.

The 19th Ward in Hamilton County, Ohio, where the principal irregularities and frauds exist is a Democratic stronghold. It was ever thus.

One side of the political campaign in Virginia is disgracefully unique.—Boston Post.

Fitz Hugh Lee's cavalry company, for instance?

Federal appointments in Rhode Island convince the Providence Journal that the Administration's civil service reform is a minus quantity, so far as that State is concerned.

The newest thing about the Mugwump is Murat Halstead's definition. He says: "The Mugwump is the soft-shell crab of our politics. He has just shed his Democratic shell and is expecting a new growth from Republican surroundings."

How long would it be before the New York Times would worship at the shrine of Hill if he should chance to secure an election? It will be remembered that the Times once considered Mr. Cleveland a very "low priced statesman."

The Democrats of Cincinnati are copying after their Chicago brethren in their attempt to steal a U. S. Senator. The Chicago scheme failed, however, and so will this. The law abiding people of that city will not tamely submit to Tuesday's outrages.

With a smile that is child-like and bland, the Charleston News asserts that the colored people are as free to vote in South Carolina as the white people in Massachusetts, but it stops just short of saying what becomes of the ballots, or why the seven-ballot-box device was arranged.

A prominent Democrat says the President is swearing mad at the course of the New York Mugwumps, and nothing but fear of the consequences prevents the removal of Pearson and Burt. That is about the size of the "reform policy" of this Administration. Anything to catch votes.

A Richmond despatch to the New York World, (Dem.,) says that the Virginia Republicans are greatly encouraged by the result of the Ohio election. Judge Foraker has promised the Virginia Republicans that he will make a number of speeches in the State, one of which, it is said, will be delivered at Wytheville next week.

The Minneapolis mills manufactured 175,000 barrels of flour last week—the largest production in its history—and, "of course," as the Tribune of that city says, "there has never been anything approaching it at any other milling point in the world." During the week 2,749 cars of wheat were received, containing 1,339,440 bushels, and in the preceding week the receipts were almost as much.

It ought not to be necessary to inform any sensible person that the recent meeting of the Republican State Committee was not called or used for the purpose of discussing or promoting any candidacy for any office. The State Committee has never attempted to interfere in any way with nominations, and no such matter was mentioned at the recent conference, which was devoted to a very cheerful consideration of the general interests of the party.

The German population of Cincinnati voted largely with the Republicans in Tuesday's elections, and there is the wildest indignation in that quarter over the glaring frauds perpetrated by the Democrats. The Republican leaders are doing all in their power to allay the excitement and deal with the perpetrators of the outrages against the ballot through legal proceedings. In this they are aided by several prominent Democrats who are disgusted with the work of the political strikers in their party.

The editor of the New York Staats Zeitung says: "There is no lack of indications that the Germans of New York have as unpleasant a surprise in store for the Democratic party as was prepared for it by the Germans of Ohio. After the third of November let the politicians who inquire into the causes of David Hill's defeat tell themselves: 'The Germans have done it!'" Great Scott! What is to become of the Mugwumps if the Germans take from them all of their political capital?

In our opinion, a greater injury to the party would result from the election of Gov. Hill. His success would encourage Democrats everywhere to oppose the progressive policy of the President.—Boston Herald.

If the above theory is correct President Cleveland must be a most peculiar man, as he is coming all the way from Washington to Buffalo to deposit his ballot for Gov. Hill. On the Mugwump basis of reasoning he is either very stupid or very insincere.

The result of the Ohio election was thus heralded by the New York Times:

REPUBLICANS VICTORIOUS

Judge Foraker Chosen Governor of Ohio By a Majority Ranging from 15,000 to 20,000. All Good Democrats Voted the Republican Ticket To Sustain President Cleveland's Administration.

We hope that the people of the country will continue to "sustain" the Administration in exactly the same manner from now until 1888 at which time it will be "sustained" by a return to private life from which it emerged only by accident. We imagine that Mr. Cleveland views the result in Ohio in a very different light from the Times.

The appointments of two new chiefs of division in the Register's office of the Treasury nearly completes the clean sweep proposed by Register Rosecrans, says a Washington despatch. The only remaining officer now is a chief against whose removal New York bankers made a formal protest. It was rumored, however, that Thursday's appointments were made by Secretary Manning in opposition to General Rosecrans' wishes. The Register is said to have had applicants for both positions who were overlooked in making the selections. One of the persons selected was a prominent candidate for the more important and lucrative position of chief of the bond and loan division of the Secretary's office.

The Democratic prophets that have all along predicted a sweeping Democratic victory in Ohio are now declaring that the election of Gov. Hill is a settled fact in New York. Unless all signs fail their predictions will be about as wide of the mark in November as they have proved in October.

Some of the Boston papers seem to be making a great cry about a very little wool in the matter of the Traveller reporter who is clamoring for "damages" on account of being "pushed" by Chairman Beard of the Republican State Committee. Boiling down the statements on both sides there remains substantial agreement as to the facts, viz: that the reporter obtained from the Committee rooms surreptitiously, and knowing it to be contrary to the will of the Chairman, a copy of a private circular to town committees not intended for publication, but which the reporter at once published in his paper; that on visiting the Committee rooms the next day he refused to inform the Chairman how he obtained the document, whereupon Mr. Beard requested him to leave as he wanted no thieves about, when the reporter made a pass for the coat collar of the Chairman who pushed him sharply and vigorously away. In reading the statements we are at a loss to find out what right the reporter had to enter the apartments where the confidential work of the committee was being carried on, and equally unable to see why the Traveller, as a Republican paper, should permit one of its employes to annoy the Republican Committee by publishing its private correspondence.

Rejoicing in New York.

A GOOD EFFECT EXPECTED IN THAT STATE.

The smiling faces at the New York Republican State Headquarters, Wednesday, told the story of the Ohio election better than words could do. Everybody was happy. The chairmen and secretaries worked with the energy of inspiration. They answered the inquiries of numerous visitors and wrote letters and held conferences and prepared documents, and wrote circulars and dispatched telegrams with snap and vigor. There were four State candidates about headquarters all day—Messrs. Davenport, Carr, Thomas and Ulrich. Colonel Wood went to Albany in the afternoon. The talk all ran on Ohio. Among the expressions of opinion and exultation heard were the following:

Mr. Davenport: "I am exceedingly gratified and pleased with the Ohio result. It is a hard won victory, of which Senator Sherman and Judge Foraker and the Republicans of Ohio have reason to be proud."

Senator Warner Miller: "The Ohio election is worth a thousand speeches in New York."

Senator Evarts: "The result in Ohio is indeed gratifying, especially for Mr. Sherman's return to the Senate."

Colonel Anson S. Wood: "Senator Sherman's 'bloody shirt' speech seems to have done the work of rousing the Republicans on the western reserve, and so decided the result."

Rodney W. Daniels, of Buffalo: "This ought to settle all questions about New York."

Railroad Commissioner O'Donnell: "The Ohio result, in its exhibit of Prohibition work shows that we are not to suffer in this State from that source as much as in former years. Republicans are not to be fooled into giving a vote for the Democrats by way of the Prohibition party this year."

Chairman Cole: "The Ohio victory will give snap and fire to the Republicans of New York. It was the one thing needed to stir out the voters. The Republican situation was splendid in this State on Monday. It is superb to-day. We had them on the run then. The rout has begun now."

Speaker Erwin: "This is glorious. I was prepared to hear of defeat. I am elated to hear of victory."

General Carr: "I am glad we have carried Ohio so handsomely."

Chairman Hackett, of the Republican State Executive Committee: "I felt it in my bones that we should carry Ohio. The fact that it was done in the main ought to encourage every New York Republican to register and vote."

Ex-Congressman Richard Crowley: "This victory stirs the blood in one's veins."

State Senator E. B. Thomas: "This increases our own splendid outlook."

Congressman James, of Brooklyn: "It is gratifying—highly gratifying."

Dwight Lawrence: "John Sherman has proven that the bloody shirt has more power than we thought it had."

William H. Williams, of Brooklyn: "It pleases me and it pleases everybody."

Muhlon Chance: "I am prouder of Ohio than ever before."

Hamilton County.

STARTLING EVIDENCE OF DEMOCRATIC FRAUDS.

A Cincinnati despatch of Oct. 14, says: This county (Hamilton) is Republican by a large plurality when an honest election can be secured. The returns from most of the precincts are in, and indicate that the Republicans have a plurality of nearly 1,800, and that they have elected all of the Legislative ticket, save Harlon (colored) candidate for Representative. The Democrats are holding back returns from precincts in the 19th Ward. These are strong Democratic precincts, and there was much illegal voting in them. Yesterday a Democratic rough stood in the door of the voting place in precinct F in this ward, and tried to shoot down an unoffending Republican who was riding by in a wagon.

There were two Democratic judges and one Republican judge in the precinct. At 10 o'clock last night when the count was about half completed a Democratic messenger drove up in a buggy. He called out the Democratic judges and after a consultation with him the latter returned to the room and, declaring that they were tired of work, locked up the ballot box and sent it to Thomas Mulvihill the Democratic City Clerk, who has it and three others in his possession and refuses to allow the vote to be counted, assigning no reason for his unwarranted conduct. The registration law was openly violated by the Democratic judges in these precincts and the book of registration was not used at all. The Republican judge said that he thought at least 74 illegal votes were cast.

This theft of the ballot boxes is the boldest and most deplorable crime that has ever been committed here in connection with elections, save the Mullen outrage. There is a great deal of indignation over it and it is proposed by a committee of 100 influential citizens to raise a large sum of money for the purpose of prosecuting the persons concerned in the stealing of the ballot boxes. One man begged the committee to omit nothing that should be done for want of money, as he would meet all bills, even to the extent of $50,000 if necessary, to punish and prevent frauds against the ballot.

John R. McLean asserted with great vehemence this evening that the Democrats had carried the county, and elected every man on the State and county ticket by a plurality of 800. He could give no figures and has nothing to base his claim upon but the returns from the few precincts which his heelers are tampering with.

IF I DIE,

My friends, or my wife's friends, will look out for her and the children, they are so kind to us. "Are you not ashamed of yourself? Are you a man, and can you lay your head on your pillow with such a spirit as that within you? Do you think that your friends have more tender feelings toward your family than you have; and that they will do more for those you leave behind than you are willing to do during your life time? About $50 a quarter at the age of 30, will guarantee them $10,000 and independence! Isn't it worth it?"

SILSBY'S

PIANO, ORGAN AND FURNITURE

POLISH.

The attention of the public is respectfully called to the above Polish. Having been used and thoroughly tested for several years in the Music Rooms of Mr. Silsby, it is confidently recommended as being much superior to anything else in the market. Its special points of superiority over all other polishes are as follows viz:

1st—It is perfectly harmless, and will not penetrate or injure the most delicate wood or highly polished surface.

2d—It readily cleanses the surface and when rubbed dry, forms a thin, hard coating, which we believe has not been equalled in durability or in brilliancy of lustre.

3d—It is easily applied.

The great importance of using an ingredient that will successfully destroy the penetrating elements which are used in the various kinds of polish, cannot fail to be appreciated.

Do not fail to try a bottle. You will certainly never allow yourself to be without it after once giving it a trial!

Ask your Grocer for Silsby's Polish. PRICE 35 CENTS. The trade are requested to write for special prices by the dozen or gross.

THE LOMBARD INVESTMENT CO.

The system of placing loans by responsible Agencies on Farm and City property in the West, has become so well understood and appreciated of late as to exercise no little surprise when the magnitude of such investments is learned as made by Savings Banks and other careful investors.

Investigation will show that this method of loaning money, in view of its safety and the fair returns assured, has become so popular that many parties and persons are changing their investments from a very low to a more satisfactory rate of interest.

The Lombard Investment Company of Boston, by 30 years' experience, without having lost a dollar for their patrons, commend themselves to the confidence of those wishing to improve by increasing their income.

The undersigned has consented to act as agent for the Company named, and will explain methods and place loans when desired, without expense to the investor through the long, chilly winter now coming, when will buy a Furnace with three registers and twenty feet of hot air pipe, setting in your house, that will keep from two to four rooms at a temperature of seventy degrees of heat. By using 1 ton of coal in from four to six weeks. The Furnaces are easily run by the lady or children. One lady said it was as easy to run as her cook stove. Another said that as her husband was away half of the time, she could not do without the least difficulty. A gentleman said his son, a dozen years old, took the whole charge of it. These Furnaces are in use in all parts of the city, and many places outside of the city.

MAINE NEWS.

FROM PORTLAND.

Arrested for Obtaining Goods Under False Pretenses.

PORTLAND, Oct. 16. F. C. Cook, alias F. H. Mills, whose father lives at 244 Main street, Charlestown, was arrested here to-day for obtaining goods under false pretenses. He negotiated to buy a store in Harrison owned by F. H. Hazelton. He represented to Loring, Short & Harmon and J. W. Perkins & Co., of this city, that he had actually purchased the store in Harrison and thereby obtained $150 worth of goods from each firm. He was arrested here this morning at a house of ill fame on Hanover street. He has been taking money from the store in Harrison and spending it recklessly here.

Call Extended.

The Free street Baptist church has extended a call to the pastorate to Rev. Albert T. Dunn, of Dorchester, Mass.

MAINE ADVENTISTS.

The Conference at Bridgton.

BRIDGTON, Oct. 16. The Maine Advent conference four days' session here continues to be successful in numbers and interest. There was preaching last night by Rev. Jesse Gay, of Saco. The church was crowded. There was likewise an able sermon during the day by Rev. I. C. Wellcome of Yarmouth. This forenoon there was a business meeting, the reports of clergymen and delegates showing generally the most satisfactory results since the last conference. There are present besides the clergymen mentioned yesterday Rev. Hiram Mains, of Cape Elizabeth, Rev. Jared Whitman, Rev. Nelson Durgin, of Lagrange. The latter is a colored brother who is about to go south to labor with his race. The weather is lovely and there are new arrivals daily.

COUNTY AND TOWN FAIRS.

Good Races at Topsham.

BRUNSWICK, Oct. 16. The fourth day of the Sagadahoc County Fair passed off finely. The weather was delightful and there was a very large attendance. In the races this afternoon the 3 minute class was won by Tommy S., owned by Geo. H. Brown, of Bath; time 2.51¾, 2.51¼, 2.48¾. Annie M., owned by J. E. Brooks, of Lewiston, won the 2.38 class; time, 2.39¾, 2.38¼, 2.38¼. There will be some fine races to-morrow afternoon, some of the best horses in the State having been entered. The receipts for the first two days were small owing to the bad weather, but with a good attendance to-morrow the total receipts will exceed $2,000.

Fair at Boothbay.

BOOTHBAY, Oct. 16. The Boothbay Farmers and Mechanics Club closed their sixth annual fair to-day. Much interest was shown in the display but the attendance was not such as it would have been had the weather been good.

MAINE PEDAGOGICAL SOCIETY.

Large and Interesting Meeting.

WATERVILLE, Oct. 16. The Maine Pedagogical Society held an interesting session this morning. C. F. Warner, of Farmington, read a practical and suggestive paper on "The importance of the sciences in the common schools and the best methods of teaching the same." He claimed that experiments and illustrations were necessary to good instruction in the study of science. A spirited discussion followed.

A memorial to Miss Susan C. Starret, late of Belfast, was presented by President Lane. Tender tributes were paid her memory by several members.

Prof. Wm. Elder, of Colby University, closed the session with a brilliantly illustrated lecture upon the "Function of Experiments." He advocated the teaching of science in schools of all grades; physiology first. Experiments settle facts, excite interest, strengthen the memory and reasoning powers. The speaker admired the student who only believes what he is compelled to believe by actual demonstration. He took the ground that all teaching should be oral and illustrated by experiments.

Prof. Henry L. Chapman of Bowdoin opened the afternoon session with a discussion of the best methods of teaching the grammatical use of language. He said the proper use of language by the teacher was the best method.

Mary J. Dudley of Pittsfield, read a paper on the study of literature, severely criticizing prevalent methods of teaching this branch. Students should become interested in the lives of great authors as an introduction to their works. By this method they acquire a taste for fine literature. B. O. McIntyre of Kent's Hill, and Hon. W. J. Corthell of Gorham, held a spirited discussion. Prof. Corthell advocated the reading of live newspapers and literary periodicals as the greatest help to a correct taste in literature. Prof. Geo. C. Purington of Farmington discussed the methods of teaching history. Prof. Small opposed the gossipy style of teaching history. He claimed that teachers should take up in the common schools only the most salient points in the history of a nation.

The day has been very pleasant and the attendance very large. This evening Wm. M. Morey, LL.D., gave a vivid narration of the Louisiana purchase, the immensity of the territory and the prophetic words of Napoleon from whom, as first Consul of France it was purchased, when he said, "I have this day given England a maritime rival that shall one day humble her pride. I have forever strengthened the power of the United States." He then recounted the immense power and progress to us as a Nation traceable to this acquisition.

Store Broken Into.

MACHIAS, Oct. 15. W. R. Pennell's store in Jonesport was broken into Tuesday night and $28 stolen. A suspected party has been lodged in Machias jail.

RAILROAD NEWS.

British Columbia Section of the Pacific Railway.

OTTAWA, Oct. 16. The British Columbia section of the Pacific Railway has been completed but the Government has not yet accepted it. Final arrangements will probably be made in a few days and the British Columbia section handed over to the Pacific Railway Company.

RECORD BROKEN.

Bicycle Meet in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16. To-day, at the annual meeting of the Chicago Bicycle Association, the American ten-mile record was broken by R. A. Neilson, of Boston, in [illegible] minutes and [illegible] seconds.

THE OHIO ELECTION.

Hamilton County Still in Doubt.

Latest Analysis of the Legislative Vote

Still Gives the Republicans a Majority on Joint Ballot,

Without the Disputed County.

Democratic Frauds to be Investigated.

The Democrats Trying to Incite Disorder.

The Closest Analysis Possible Gives the Legislature to the Republicans, Without Hamilton County.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 16. Returns on the Legislative ticket continue indefinite owing to the uncertainty of the result in Hamilton County. The Republicans claim 4 Senators and 6 Representatives in this county and the Democrats claim the whole delegation, 4 Senators and 10 Representatives. Only the official count can determine it.

Omitting Hamilton county the closest analysis that can be made is that the Republicans have elected to the House 58 members and the Democrats 41; doubtful, Stark county. The Senate, omitting the Hamilton county returns, show that the Republicans have elected 17 members and the Democrats 16.

Not Satisfied With Their Attempt to Steal the Legislature the Democrats Seek to Increase the Excitement by a Contemptible Insult.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 16. Great excitement was caused in front of the Democratic headquarters on Broad street, at 3 P. M., and a riot narrowly avoided. Soon after noon some one about the headquarters caused to be strung across the street in large form a bloody shirt with the inscription: "New North, new South, new deal. The last of the bloody shirt." It is stated that a G. A. R. man called and gave the committee a half hour to have the shirt taken down and by the order of a member of the committee it was being done when a man from the Republican headquarters grabbed the garment and after soaking it with kerosene returned and burned the shirt in front of the Democratic headquarters. A crowd of several hundred gathered and the greatest excitement ensued.

The counsels of cooler heads prevailed, however, and after much loud talk and threats the crowd dispersed. The yelling caused the people to leave their business, while many locked their doors. The Republicans denounce it as an insult and both sides are condemned by the better citizens for participating in a movement which in the present political fever heat, might have led to a great loss of life and property.

The Democratic Corruptionists to be Prosecuted—A Democratic Police Force will not Serve the Warrants.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 16. The executive committee of one hundred citizens to-day sent a letter to the President of the Common Pleas Court, asking him to summon at once a special panel of the jury to examine into the violation of the election laws of Ohio committed in Hamilton county, and indict all persons against whom a reasonable amount of evidence shall be adduced. The committee are discouraged about getting the warrants faithfully served by the present police and have determed to move against the election offenders through warrants sworn out before magistrates and served by constables.

A PARA FIRM

Charged with Defrauding the Brazilian Government.

BOSTON, Oct. 16. The Boston Commercial-Bulletin claims to have exclusive information through letters from Para of alleged enormous frauds upon the Brazilian Government through the evasion of export duty of twenty-two cents a pound on India rubber. The firm implicated does business at the port of Para and is very intimately connected with a well known house in New York. The Para branch of the New York house has been shipping nearly, if not quite, 4,000,000 pounds of rubber per annum from Para to Boston and New York. It has been one of the mysteries of the trade, a year or two past, says the Bulletin, how the rubber from this firm could be constantly sold in Boston for less than the apparent cost of importation. When the absolute cost of laying it down here was $1.05 it would sell for perhaps $1 per pound, and recently when the cost of importation with all charges paid has been 56 and 58 cents goods have been sold at 54 and 56 cents.

The Para firm is said to explain this upon the ground of superior facilities for buying and handling the rubber. They also assert that the alleged evasions of the Brazilian revenue laws are confined to technicalities. The amount of the evasions is placed by some as high as $1,000,000, covering a period of two or three years. The evasions are said to have been possible from the fact that the firm in question have private docks in Para from which their rubber is shipped, but the frauds could have been possible only through collusion with government inspectors there.

THE TURF.

Mystic Park Races—Death of a Valuable Horse.

BOSTON, Oct. 16. At Mystic Park to-day the unfinished 2.23 race of yesterday was won by Kitefoot after a hard tussle with Geo. A.

SUMMARY.

2.23 class—Purse $300.

Kitefoot,	3	2	1	1	1
George A.,	2	3	2	2	2
St. Dennis,	1	1	3	dis

Time, 2.25½, 2.26¼, 2.26¼, 2.27½, 2.23½.

In the free for all pacing race three heats were trotted when darkness caused a postponement of the race.

SUMMARY.

Crimson,	1	2	1
Hortense,	3	1	2
Ned Hanlan,	2	4	3
Daisy Lamber,	4	3	4

Time, 2.27¼, 2.25, 2.27¾.

The stallion A. C. Dewey started in the free for all race and just as he was about to reach the wire at the conclusion of the first heat fell dead upon the track, having either burst a blood vessel or died from congestion of the heart. The stallion was owned by Slaughter, O'Connor & Co., of Dallas, Texas, and they had refused an offer of $7,000 for him. He had a trotting record of 2.40 and pacing record of 2.35.

BRUTAL MURDER.

Danger of Keeping Money in the House.

HAZLETON, Pa., Oct. 16. Between eight and nine o'clock last evening a terrible tragedy was committed at Sibertsville, a small village nine miles from here. Four tramps entered a small house, some distance back from the main road, in which lived two bachelor brothers, John and William Kester, aged respectively fifty and fifty-four, and demanded a large sum of money which was known to be secreted about the house. The Kesters refused to reveal where the money was hidden and the tramps then bound them both hand and foot and beat their brains out with a heavy club. After committing the murder they fled and have not yet been arrested.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.

Doing What Ought to Have Been Done Before.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 16. The municipal authorities received instructions to-day from Attorney General Colt to exhume the body of Benjamin Burton, with a view to holding an inquest to determine whether he was murdered or not. Burton was a prominent colored business man. Tuesday of last week he was found dying from the effect of a bullet in the back of his head and one in his breast. The other persons in the house were his two daughters and son-in-law, and Dorsey, a medical student from Philadelphia. The officials acted hastily and ordered his burial, but no inquest. Since then ugly rumors have been circulated implicating very respectable people, and the relatives of Burton make serious charges. A great sensation is promised from the evidence to-morrow.

LABOR TROUBLES.

Ending a Strike.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 16. Very Rev. M. McCall, vicar general of the diocese of Providence, whose seat is at Woonsocket, received last night a letter from the Executive Board of the Knights of labor, delegating him with power to order all the strikers employed in the Millville Rubber Works to return to work at once. He will publish a card showing his authority. Reports from Millville state that three persons employed at the rubber works were assaulted on the street last night and one was severely injured. The strikers who have received the above mentioned order state that they will return to work at once.

Glassware Strikers.

BOSTON, Oct. 16. To-day is the last day of grace allowed by the Eastern Association of the manufacturers of glassware for the striking workers to give an answer to the circular in the hands of the men, whether they will go to work or not. At the Union Glass Company's Works, in Somerville, no overtures had been made by the strikers to the manufacturers this noon, and it is not at all likely there will be. If nothing is heard from the men by to-morrow night the fires will be put out and a notice, "closed," hung out. The Union Company has a good number of orders for glassware on hand, which have been accumulating the past two weeks during the strike. They will be filled in a measure from the old stock, which is quite large, but the loss to the company on the orders which will be rejected in quite large. If the fires are drawn from to-morrow night the company will not start up until next spring, and it is said that all the factories will follow the plan. The strikers are very reticent regarding their intentions.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Struck by a Locomotive.

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 16. Rev. Lester Williams, of West Springfield, and Chaplain of the jail in this city, was struck by a switch engine and received injuries that may terminate fatally.

He Didn't Love His Neighbor.

SPRINGFIELD, Oct. 16. Alonzo Payne was to-day held in $3,000 for poisoning Sanford Marsh's cattle, at Montague. In default he was committed to jail.

A Big Gun.

BOSTON, Oct. 16. At the South Boston Iron Works this afternoon, a 54 ton, 12 inch breech loading rifle cannon, for the Government, was cast in the presence of a large number of army and navy officers. The casting is believed to have been a success, but while the molten iron was pouring into the mould something like an explosion occurred, which, while not doing any external or apparent damage, may have caused an internal defect. The casting is in such a condition at present, however, as to indicate if anything went wrong the injury is very slight.

THE OAR.

Always an Excuse.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 16. The defeat of Courtney and Conley by Hanlan and Lee is a subject much discussed in rowing circles. The word to go was given before Courtney and Conley were ready and the start gained by the other boat so affected Conley that he lost his presence of mind and seemingly retarded the speed of his boat until all hope of victory was lost. Courtney rowed in good form throughout.

AMERICAN BOARD.

The Closing Session.

BOSTON, Oct. 16. The farewell meeting of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, opened this morning in Tremont Temple. After prayer the report of the committee on papal lands was presented by Rev. Wm. P. Fisher of Brunswick, Me. Reports of the missions in these lands show that the work is progressing slowly, but not without encouragement. A local committee to make arrangements for the next meeting at Des Moines was appointed, and the usual resolutions of thanks for various kinds of assistance passed. Rev. Dr. A. H. Smith and Rev. Dr. Clark spoke a few words for the several missionaries of both sexes who are about to depart for their fields of labor. President Hopkins spoke of the great success of the present gathering. His remarks were responded to by Dr. Webb, for the committee of arrangements. The closing prayer was offered by Dr. Todd of New Haven, and the singing of a hymn and benediction by Rev. Dr. Porter, brought the anniversary to a close.

GANG OF THIEVES RAIDED.

A Lively Contest.

DETROIT, Oct. 15. A desperate fight occurred at the Arctic restaurant, a thieves resort, last night, between the police force and a gang of burglars, they were raiding. Revolvers were freely used and Charles Strong one of the burglars was shot dead; a woman belonging to the house was wounded. Several arrests were made and a large amount of stolen property recovered.

MONTREAL.

Small-Pox Record.

MONTREAL, Oct 16. Official returns at the Health Office to-day show 43 deaths from small-pox in the city yesterday, 3 in St. Gabriel, 2 in St. Henri, 2 in Cote St. Louis, 1 in St. Jean Baptiste village and 1 in Ste Cunegonde; total 52.

EDUCATIONAL MEETING.

Preparatory Schools and Colleges.

BOSTON, Oct. 16. A large number of New England College officials met in this city to-day to discuss the subject of co-operation between preparatory schools and colleges. Among the number were: President Noah Porter, Yale College, the Misses Eastman from Wellesly, Charles B. Goffe, of the Classical School, Providence, President William F. Warren, of Boston University, Prof. Fay, of Tufts, Moses Merrill, of the Latin School, Dr. Robert P. Keep, of the Free Academy, Norwich, Ct., John W. Dickinson, Secretary of the State Board of Education, Dr. E. G. Robinson, Brown University, W. O. Scott, D.D., Phillips Academy, J. B. Sewall, of Thayer Academy, Prof. Buck, of Boston University, James Hall, of Hartford High School, T. W. T. Curtis, of New Haven High School, Horace M. Willard, of Vermont Academy.

Mr. John Tetlow called the meeting to order and in a brief address reviewed the growth of the movement which had culminated in the meeting of to-day. Dr. Moses Merrill was invited to take the chair and spoke briefly. Miss Helen McGill was elected Secretary. Papers were then read as follows: "Organization: How can the preparatory schools co-operate more effectively with the college?" by President Porter, of Yale College. Discussion was opened by Edward H. Cutler, of Newton, Mass. "Is any greater degree of uniformity in requisitions for admission to college practicable?" by Dr. C. F. Bancroft, principal of Phillips Academy. Discussion opened by President Eliot, of Harvard College.

THE REBEL RIEL.

Reported Commutation Denied.

OTTAWA, Oct. 15. It is stated here that the rumor prevailing in London yesterday that Riel's sentence would be changed to penal servitude for life, is without foundation and that there is no power in England to change the sentence.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Moving on Sofia.

LONDON, Oct 16. The Servians crossed the Bulgarian frontier near Charkoi. They are advancing toward Sofia, and are now near the Drogaman Pass. A panic prevails at Sofia. Four battalions of infantry have gone to defend Drogaman Pass. They have with them only two batteries and these are composed of small guns. There is no heavy Bulgarian artillery nearer the scene of the disturbance than that at Sistova and Rustchuk. It is expected that Sofia will be captured by coup de main.

Austria has warned King Milan that whatever may be the issue of the present trouble, it will be useless for to him expect support from Austria. Railroad companies in Austria and Hungary and Danubian Navigation Companies have been notified to prepare for the transportation of troops and munitions of war.

THE WEATHER

WAR DEP'T, OFFICE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER,
Washington, D. C., Oct. 17 - (1 A. M.)
Indications:

For New England: Generally fair weather; nearly stationary temperature; variable winds, generally from the southeast to southwest.

LOCAL MATTERS.

Quite a number of Bangor sportsmen were in the woods yesterday with dog and gun and nearly all of them reported good luck.

Col. C. C. Burrill, of Ellsworth, and Mr. S. F. Pickard, of the Portland Transcript, were registered at the Bangor House yesterday.

Conductor O. G. Putnam, of the Bucksport train, is now enjoying his vacation and Baggage Master Seth Cole is running the train.

The Aroostook Herald announces the completion of its first year and we extend our congratulations and best wishes for the future.

The weather yesterday was that of a model autumn day and many people enjoyed the warm sunshine by appearing upon the streets.

The schooner Wm. Cargill arrived yesterday with a cargo of one hundred tons of pig iron for the Bangor Foundry & Machine Company.

The Union Bible Class will be held this evening in the vestry of the Central church, according to previous announcement, beginning promptly at half-past seven.

The programme, which has been arranged for the annual convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of Maine will be found on the first page this morning.

Mr. J. M. Hill, of the Bangor High School, will address the meeting of the Maine Pedagogical Society, at Waterville to-day, on the "Aims and Methods of Discipline in High Schools."

Capt. Wm. Flowers of this city and Capt. Charles Staples, Jr., of Portland, have returned from Moosehead Lake, where they have finished the inspection of the lake steamers for the season.

A Bangor gentleman who was at West Cove Thursday, noticed four steamers lying at the wharves there, loading with supplies for the woods. The scene seemed to be an unusually active one.

The stage drivers who come into this city say that the roads are muddier just now than they have been at any time before since last spring. The last rain was a very heavy one in the country.

John Farquhar, of Old Town, the road master of the Bangor and Piscataquis Railroad, who has recently twice broken one of his legs, is now able to be out of doors and over the road. He is fast improving.

Work on the Methodist parsonage on Union street is progressing very rapidly. The cellar, which has been unusually well constructed, is now completed, and the contractors, Messrs. W. & L. Cutter, have begun framing.

Miss Rosalie Blanchard arrived on the steamer Katahdin yesterday from Boston, and will meet her classes in elocution next Monday. Miss Blanchard will occupy the same conveniently situated rooms in Kenduskeag Block which were used by her last winter.

Gen. James H. Butler and wife, of Hampden, with their daughter, Mrs. Prof. A. E. Rogers, of the Maine State College, leave next Wednesday morning for Palatka, Florida, to pass the winter. The many friends of Mrs. Rogers hope that her health may be improved by the trip.

Two quite large parties of ladies and gentlemen who have been camping out in the Moosehead Lake region have returned to their homes. One party was from Massachusetts and for several weeks has camped at Roach river. The other was from East Corinth and has been in the vicinity of Moose river.

The pumping engine at the Water Works will be shut down to-morrow afternoon for several hours, beginning at 1 o'clock. The time will be occupied in putting a new valve into the suction which has been constructed there. People who wish to use water in the afternoon would do well to draw it from the pipes before the works shut down.

Mrs. F. T. Hazlewood, wife of Rev. Dr. F. T. Hazlewood, of Lynn, Mass., formerly pastor of the First Baptist church, arrived Thursday to make a short visit in this city. During her stay she will be the guest of Miss Kate B. Walker, on High street. Mrs. Hazlewood has hosts of friends who will gladly welcome her back to her old home.

Our Winthrop correspondent writes: The friends of Miss Lizzie Fernald are glad to hear of her safe arrival in San Francisco.——Prof. S. A. Alden of the Monroe Conservatory of Oratory, Boston, will give a reading at Union Hall Saturday evening October 17th.——Mr. Henry Taylor and wife left to-day on their way to Florida, where they will spend the winter.

Dr. Hayward Stetson of this city and Dr. Henry T. Berstow of Boston, returned on yesterday morning's train from a two months' hunting and fishing trip on the East Branch. They met with unusually good success, bringing home a caribou, deer, bear, and four beavers. While they were gone they saw three or four moose, seventeen deer and a large number of caribou. Their trip was a splendid one.

The entertainment given by the ladies in the reading room, last evening, was very enjoyable. The piano solo by Miss Katie Perkins was very finely rendered. The singing by Miss Staples was received with applause and for an encore she gave "My Aine Bonnie Mary." The reading by Mrs. Cushman, recitation by Mr. Burr and the music by Miss Blanche Clayton were all very meritorious.

George Perham, of Barnard, who has been at work chopping wood for the Katahdin Iron Works Company, was quite seriously injured Wednesday. The tree which he was chopping fell against a dead trunk and this in falling struck him in the back. He was brought out to the railroad Thursday morning where he was put aboard of the train and taken to Brownville and thence home by team.

In 1883 there were 95,584,569 cigars manufactured in Maine.

Few people are aware that the immense yard of the Maine Central Railroad in this city is regularly cleaned of all bits of paper, wood, and other rubbish which may be scattered about in it. A train with a crew of ten men was at work yesterday hauling away the piles of stuff which had been raked up about the yard. If some of Bangor's citizens would keep their premises as neat as the Maine Central keeps its yard the general appearance of the city would be greatly improved.

ANDREWS' ORCHESTRA, already have a large number of engagements to fill. The organization will be the same as last winter. Mr. R. B. Hall, the cornet soloist, is now visiting at his home in Richmond, but will return in a few weeks. They play at the dedication of a new hall in Athens next Tuesday evening; November 4th, for the A. O. H. ball; November 11th, for the Firemen's Relief Fund ball, and Thanksgiving eve for the Union Hose Company's ball. The orchestra will be as popular this winter as heretofore, and our citizens hope that they may listen to its music very often.

Col. William A. Cromwell, for the past thirteen years the faithful and efficient New England passenger agent of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad, is to retire from the service of that corporation, it having been determined to consolidate a number of offices and put them in charge of the Boston and Albany management in Boston, the latter being intimately connected with the Michigan Southern. Mr. Cromwell has done a vast amount of business for the Michigan Southern, and no railroad man in New England is better or more favorably known to the traveling public.

AN IMPRISONED HAY DEALER. A leading hay merchant on the West Side made himself a prisoner for a short time very unintentionally yesterday forenoon. He stepped into a dark store room in some buildings adjoining his own and closed the door quickly. There was no knob on the inside and the outside knob dropped to the floor taking the axis which projected to the inside with it. The genial hay dealer found himself in a dark room where his cries could raise no help and effectually imprisoned. Fortunately for himself, however, he had a sharp knife in his pocket and drawing this he began cutting through the door. The job occupied about an hour and when he once saw the light he made rapid tracks for his office which he found full of customers. He explained his absence by saying that he had been "out to see a man."

LAST TRIP OF THE KATAHDIN. The steamer Katahdin is now in port for the last time this season. She arrived yesterday afternoon with a large cargo of freight and a good number of passengers. This steamer has made a great record during the past summer. She has brought by far the heaviest freight at one time of any boat this season and has also made the fastest time from Boston to Bangor. Her business has been very steady throughout the summer and fall. Capt. F. C. Homer, who commands the Katahdin, grows more and more popular each year with the travelling public and his many friends will be glad to learn that he will be transferred to the steamer Penobscot Monday to run during Capt. Roix's illness. Capt. Homer has been ably assisted by Purser Hanscome, Freight Clerk Cooper and Steward Smith, each of whom will be greatly missed from the line.

OBITUARY. A correspondent writes: Died in Old Town, October 5, after a brief illness, Mrs. Clara M. Penny, wife of the late Horace Penny, who died six years ago, and will be remembered by some of the readers of the WHIG, as master mechanic of the B. & P. R. R. Mrs. Penny was a devoted wife and mother and was much esteemed by her neighbors and friends who realize their loss in this event, and it was very pleasant, on the day of her funeral, to hear the testimonials to her excellence and worth. Two sons, both of whom occupy responsible positions in the employ of the B. & P. R. R., survive her, who feel deeply bereaved by this affliction but are cheered by the pleasant memory they have of her, and that christian faith whose light, for many years had been a solace and support to her and made her entrance into the spirit world, bright and triumphant.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION. Rev. S. W. Chapin and Rev. G. W. Hinckley, of this city, remained at West Hampden to conduct the evening session of the convention held at that place Thursday. They were reinforced at Hermon Pond Friday morning by Rev. B. B. Merrill and Dea. J. C. White, and drove to East Dixmont for a convention at that place. A devotional service was led by Rev. Mr. Hinckley. In the absence of President Harriman Rev. S. W. Chapin presided, and introduced Rev. B. B. Merrill, who spoke on "The Bible and the Sunday School." His interesting address prepared the way for a free discussion, in which Revs. Drew and Hinckley and Dea J. C. White took part. At half-past one o'clock a larger audience than that of the morning had assembled, and the afternoon sessioned opened with a praise service. Dea. J. C. White, whose mother organized the first Sunday School in Eastern Maine, was then introduced and gave an address on "Encouragements in Sunday School Work." The addresses abounded in pleasing reminiscences of a long life of Sunday School activity. Rev. S. W. Chapin spoke on "Parents and the Sunday School," and an interesting discussion of the two topics which had been presented followed. By mistake the annual meeting was announced to take place October 25th, but will be held at Newport village October 20th.

TIN WEDDING. A very pleasant event occurred Thursday evening at the residence of L. A. Barker, Esq., at the corner of Hammond and Fourth streets, the occasion being the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Barker or the "tin wedding." About forty ladies and gentlemen, friends of the couple, assembled at the residence in the evening bearing all kinds of presents appropriate to the occasion. A very happy time was passed, the festivities being kept up until a late hour in the evening when the company left, wishing that Mr. and Mrs. Barker might celebrate many more anniversaries.

NOTES FROM ISLESBORO. A few days ago the store of L. N. Gilkey, Islesboro, was burned with the entire contents. The insurance was $1,000 on store and stock. It is thought that it was the work of an incendiary. The loss was about $1,500. ——J. R. Ryder is greatly improving his store by putting on a coat of paint.——Capt. Mark Pendleton has been appointed postmaster and Joseph Sprague assistant. The office has been removed to Mr. Sprague's house.——Will W. Sprague, Esq., leaves Monday for Boston, where he will go into business. His father will carry on his market.——Capt. W. P. Sprague's house caught fire around the chimney a few days ago and but for the prompt assistance of the neighbors would have seen a total loss.——J. P. Bragg, Esq. as tax collector is having very good success.

The dredger has been moved up the river to the position where it was first set at work and will move down over the course on which it has already been operated, taking out the hummocks which have been found by Engineer Roth. When this is finished all that will remain to be done on this course will be to drag it for ledges. The operations in the harbor will probably be suspended some time during the first of next month.

STILLWATER ITEMS. The annual fair of the ladies of the Methodist Society in this place began Wednesday evening and closed Thursday night. Owing to the severe storm of Wednesday the attendance was not as large as was anticipated, but the evening was a very profitable one. One of the best suppers which was ever given in Excelsior Hall, where the fair was held, was served Wednesday evening, and the ladies were highly complimented by all who partook of the spread for the work and skill in preparing it. Thursday night the attendance was very good, and a large number of fancy articles and household goods on exhibition were sold. A very handsome quilt was voted to Mrs. Otis Reed, who had 151 votes, Mrs. Walter Nason, the second lady in the contest, having 144. The guess cake, without which no fair of this kind would be complete, was captured by Mr. C. J. McLeod, who guessed its exact weight. Mr. G. T. Moody, of Bangor, was present Thursday evening and favored those in attendance with some splendidly rendered solos. The fair as a whole was a great success, the ladies having been untiring in their efforts to accomplish this end.——Miss Jennie Gerrish, the whistling soloist of Milford, and Miss Parkman, a cornet soloist of Corinth, assisted by other musical talent, will give an entertainment in Excelsior Hall next Tuesday evening.

A COOL ROBBERY.

Stealing of Twenty Dollars in a Bangor Boarding House Yesterday Morning—A Young Man's Enjoyment of a New Suit of Clothes and a Trip to Searsport Entirely Spoiled.

A fellow about seventeen years of age and giving his name as Ira Hatch applied at a boarding house at 77 State street Thursday evening for lodging. He was given a place to sleep, occupying a room with a young man named John Slocum. In the morning Slocum arose early and after he had gone from the room Hatch took a wallet containing twenty dollars or more belonging to his bed fellow and left the house. As soon as Slocum discovered his loss he made search for the thief, but was unable to find him. Together with Officer Reed he went to the Boston boat and watched the passengers as they went aboard but did not see the person wanted. They gave up the search at eleven o'clock the time that the boat usually sails, but for some reason the plank was not hauled exactly at that time and a few moments afterwards the bystanders noticed a young man go aboard dressed in a new suit of clothes and carrying a new valise.

Slocum was notified and he telephoned to Bucksport to have him taken off. When the boat arrived the agent at that port, Mr. J. W. Patterson, together with Steward Pote, instituted a search and the young thief was captured by the latter and turned over to Mr. Patterson, who brought him to this city on the train and he was arraigned in the police court and pleaded guilty to the charge. He had purchased new clothing throughout with the stolen money and bought a ticket for Searsport. His old clothes were in a new valise, which had also been purchased early in the morning.

He told Marshal Whitney what he had done with every cent of the cash. He said he was sentenced to the Reform School when he was very young and remained there until last May, when he was released conditionally. His trial was continued until it could be learned by the terms of his release whether or not he could be sent back to the school to serve through his minority. Hatch is very bright and smart looking, but evidently is a bad boy. He says he wants to go to the Reform School and remain until he is of age, get an education and come out a different man.

AMUSEMENTS.

Ten Nights in a Bar Room.

Two performances of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" will be given at the Opera House to-day, a matinee at half past two, and an evening representation at the usual hour. The sale of seats has been large.

Storm Beaten.

There is every indication of large audiences at the Opera House next Monday and Tuesday evenings, to witness "Storm Beaten." The following is from the Boston Herald of last Tuesday:

With an interesting story, strong situations, pleasing and exciting incidents and a number of startling and attractive scenic changes, it is not to be wondered at that this play has hit the popular fancy. The production of last evening had much to commend it. The play was well staged, and the more striking mechanical changes and the elaborate scenic sets were all that could reasonably be desired. The cast was a remarkably good one, and even the smallest of the characters were entrusted to competent people. Mr. Edmund Collier enacted the role of Christian and won the favor of the audience at once, and the strength and vigor of his acting were given a pleasant recognition. Miss Charlotte Wayland made a most acceptable Kate, and Miss Octavia Allen, as might have been expected of such an excellent actress, was fully equal to the demands of Dame Christianson. The other members of the company, as has been intimated, gave adequate support.

Chanfrau as "Kit."

The last representation in this city of "Kit, the Arkansaw Traveller," occurred at the Opera House, May 20, 1882, with the late Frank Chanfrau in the title role. It will please the many admirers of this stirring drama, illustrative of western life, to hear that Henry Chanfrau, a son of Frank, will present the play at the Opera House next Thursday evening. Of a recent performance in New York city the World said:

Mr. Henry Chanfrau made his second metropolitan appearance (his first being at Mount Morris) at Niblo's Garden in his late father's speciality, "Kit, the Arkansaw Traveller," and at once ingratiated himself with his audience. He possesses a bright, intelligent face, a lithe, graceful form and has an agreeable voice. In all the minute details of the stage business, as applied to "Kit," he is perfectly au fait, but he cannot be accused of being a servile imitator of the original creator of the part. The support given to Mr. Chanfrau is very good.

At the 4 P. M. service the subject of the sermon will be "The harmony of the Divine Attributes." The services in the afternoon, including the sermon, occupy about one hour and the sermon is purely evangelical and undenominational.

Orono Horticultural Society.

The annual meeting of the Orono Horticultural Society was held Wednesday evening last and the following were chosen officers for the ensuing year: A. G. Ring, President; C. P. Crosby, Vice President; Samuel Libbey, Secretary and Treasurer. The various standing committees were also elected. After the routine business was disposed of an informal conference was held on the results of the year's operations in that town from which it appeared that the crop was a very large one, more apples having been raised than were needed for home consumption. The number of trees bearing summer and early fall fruit was too large to be profitable and members were advised to raise more winter fruit in the future. Several fine crops of grain, etc., were reported. Mr. Jackson Page raised 253 bushels of oats, threshers' measure, from eight bushels sowed; Mr. Nathan Frost forty-five bushels of ears of finely ripened corn from one-fourth of an acre, equal to ninety bushels of shelled corn to the acre. Mr. George P. Gilman also raised an acre of fine corn; many of the ears being twelve and thirteen inches in length and well filled to the top of the cob. Five ears on exhibition at the post-office weighed five pounds. The amount grown on the acre could not be determined as not all of it had been husked. Mr. A. G. Ring reported nine different varieties of grapes grown in open air, many of which he had succeeded in ripening. Mr. Richard Lord picked twelve full bushels of Pound Sweet apples from one young tree, all sound, the fruit of large size. Circumstances, which members regretted, prevented a fall exhibition this year, but it was determined to attempt a display another fall.

Notes from Old Town.

[Regular Correspondence of the Whig and Courier.]

Mr. S. Bullen, of Bradley, while riding down the hill at the lower end of Old Town village Friday morning met with what threatened to be a fatal accident. At the railroad crossing his horse stumbled and threw him so he fell head foremost, wedging his head so firm between the body of the wagon and wheel that the wheel had to be turned before he could be extricated. A passer by held the horse before he could do any damage, thus avoiding what would have been a fatal accident. Mr. Bullen escaped with a scalp wound.

A notice is posted for a town meeting to see if the town will exempt from taxation for a term of years mills to be built in Stillwater at a cost of not less than $30,000.

Mr. James W. Sewall is erecting a new residence on Academy hill, near the old homestead.

Major M. M. Folsom has in contemplation extensive repairs on the post-office. Mr. Lincoln Edgerly officiates as clerk in the post-office.

Mr. C. E. Brown, of the firm of Brown & Purdy, has bought a house lot and is to build in Great Works.

The Maine Central Railroad Company is laying a much needed platform around the station, and it is the wish of all that they continue in their work till they build a station which will be in keeping with the town.

Master Tom's Engagement.

Old Mr. Molyneux was immensely proud of his position as the county magnate. He lived in a feudal castle which he had bought cheaply, having taken over, at the same time the goodwill, so to speak, of its former owner's social influence and dignity. In consideration of his great wealth, his neighbors charitably ignored the fact that his father had been a small tradesman, and that he himself had carried on a lucrative business in the hardware line for many years. He was not a bad old fellow, his vulgarity being of a subdued and inoffensive kind, and consequently he was received in the best county society. But he aspired to even greater distinction, for his pet project was to marry his only son, Tom, to one of the Earl of Laburnum's daughters. There seemed no reason why this auspicious event should not come about, for the Lady Florence looked kindly upon Master Tom, and his lordship had more than once hinted that he would raise no objection. Lord Laburnum was the lord-lieutenant of the county, and an alliance with his family meant admission into the most aristocratic circles.

Unfortunately Master Tom was rather a scapegrace, and his father preferred to let him see a little of the world before revealing the high honors that were in store for him. The fact was, that Tom showed no predilection whatever for the Lady Florence, and he was just at that democratic age when a youth is apt to underrate social advantages. The old man hoped that when Tom had had his fling he would begin to awake to the responsibilities of his position, and be amenable to reason. He knew that Tom was raising a very respectable crop of debts, and that before long his paternal assistance would be sought. When the crisis arrived, he intended to make known his wishes, and to take advantage of the lad's embarrassments to impose conditions. Meanwhile as Tom seemed to have given his heart a roving commission, there was no apparent danger of his seriously compromising his affections.

One day, however, the young man came down from town, where he was ostensibly studying for the bar, and with a very grave and determined air announced that he was engaged to be married. Old Mr. Molyneux nearly had a fit of apoplexy on the spot, and when Tom proceeded to state that the young lady earned her own living by carrying on the business of a dressmaker at the West End, his horror and indignation knew no bounds. In vain Tom pleaded that Miss Fabian was a lady by birth and education, and that the poverty of her family was her only crime. Her father became more and more furious, until Tom showed symptoms of flat rebellion.

"Think of your position in the county!" cried old Mr. Molyneux, perceiving this, and wisely making an effort to control himself. "I will take it for granted, if you like, that the girl is an exemplary character. She may be ladylike, and well educated, and all the rest of it. But her station is altogether inferior to yours."

"I don't see that," said Tom, stubbornly.

"Why, of course. It is ridiculous," said the old gentleman, swelling with self-importance. "Her father, you say, is a poor out-at-elbows devil of a clerk in the city."

"I've never noticed his coat had holes in it," retorted Tom. "As for his being a clerk in the city, so were you—once. The only difference is that you have been more fortunate than he, and have made enough money to retire upon."

"None of your infernal radical nonsense here, sir!" cried old Mr. Molyneux, infuriated at this reference to his own origin. "It would be just as sensible to say that you and I are the equals of Lord Laburnum because Adam was our common ancestor. What does it matter if I was once a clerk in the city? I have since attained a superior grade in the social scale, and that is the fact that must be faced. By marrying the daughter of a city clerk, who earns her living by dressmaking, you would be making a mis-alliance."

"Just as Lady Florence would by marrying me," said Tom, looking wonderfully innocent.

"Who is talking about Lady Florence?" said old Mr. Molyneux, taken aback by this unexpected thrust.

"Nobody—only I have an idea you wish me to marry out of my station," retorted Tom.

"I don't wish you to marry at all, sir, not for many a long year!" cried the old man, fairly nonplussed.

"What I mean is, father," said Tom, doggedly, "that I see no more harm in marrying below one's station—to use your own term—than in marrying above it. If one is wrong the other must be."

"Stuff and nonsense, sir! You don't know what you're talking about," exclaimed Mr. Molyneux. "I don't want to have an argument with you. The long and short of the matter is, that I won't hear of this foolish engagement. There! It is no use talking. Let there be an end of it, or I shall have something very unpleasant to say."

The old man bounced out of the room as he spoke, not a little startled and amazed by his son's tone and attitude. Hitherto Tom had never ventured to argue with him, partly from filial duty and partly from inherent weakness of character. He began to fear that the lad possessed unexpected firmness, until he soothed his mind by the reflection that he had probably been carefully coached for the interview. This suspicion explained Master Tom's unaccustomed readiness of repartee, which had made him appear a dangerous adversary. Relieved in his mind by the discovery, old Mr. Molyneux gradually cooled down, and completely recovered his self-confidence. He easily convinced himself that Tom would never dare to disobey him, and, instead of feeling the least apprehensive of the marriage taking place, he was only uneasy lest rumors of the engagement should reach the Laburnums.

He prudently resolved to treat the matter as definitely disposed of, and to make no further allusion to it—at all events until Tom had had time for reflection. Judging from appearances, the lad seemed completely subdued. He spent the next few days slaughtering pheasants in a dejected and sulky frame of mind. His father smiled within himself and held his tongue, though he showed by his manner that he did not intend to be trifled with. When he considered that he might safely speak, he said one morning, with assumed carelessness:—

"Well, my boy, what are you going to do?"

"I'm going to shoot over Bailey's farm," replied Tom.

"Nonsense. You know what I am referring to," said the old man, turning red. "I am speaking of this idiotic love affair."

"Oh! Well, of course, I must keep my word," said Tom, with flushed cheek.

"What! you haven't written to break it off?" said Mr. Molyneux, feigning surprise.

"No, guv'nor, I haven't," said Tom. "I hoped you would have softened by this time."

"And I believed you would have remembered that your first duty was to obey your father," cried the old man, beginning to boil. "Do you mean to tell me that you still contemplate marrying a—a dressmaker?"

"She has sold her business, father," said Tom, eagerly. "She might have done better had she waited a bit, but out of deference to your wishes—"

"My wishes!" interrupted Mr. Molyneux, angrily. "I don't care if she carries on twenty businesses. What I say is that you shall never marry her with my consent. That's all."

"I should be very sorry to disobey you, father," began Tom, gravely, "but—"

"Look here, my boy," interrupted the old gentleman, quickly, speaking with unnatural calmness, "let us understand each other. I forbid this foolish engagement, and I order you to break it off instantly. That is my bark. Now for my bite. You leave my house within an hour, and unless you inform me in the course of a week that the affair is at an end, I stop supplies. If you persist in marrying the girl, then, by heaven! I will alter my will and leave every farthing I possess to your cousin Ted—in fact I will make him my heir and discard you altogether."

It is doubtful whether the old man would have really carried out this serious threat, for he was fond of his son, and proud of him in a way, but he looked very determined when he uttered it and Tom was evidently impressed. The lad dropped his eyes before his father's irate glance, and the ruddy color left his cheeks for an instant.

"You know, Tom," he added, noticing the wholesome effect of his words, "you are entirely dependent upon me, and unless you took to poaching, I don't see how you could possibly earn a crust. Besides you are up to your ears in debt."

"I don't owe much," said Tom quickly, with a tell-tale blush.

"You will find out that you owe a good deal when your creditors learn that I have made your cousin Ted my heir," said the old man enigmatically.

Tom was evidently seriously disconcerted by this remark. He turned on his heel, muttering something about catching the next train to town, leaving his father master of the situation. The old man considered he had gained a signal victory, and was, therefore, not the least perturbed when his son started off to the station with his luggage, in literal accordance with his injunction. He did not doubt that Master Tom would see the folly of his ways; and, sure enough, two days afterward the young man reappeared, looking decidedly sheepish, and tendered his submission. He even brought a copy of the letter he had written to the young lady, which Mr. Molyneux thought a little too curt and matter of fact if any fault was to be found with it. However, he was not inclined to be hypercritical in this respect, and he heartily applauded Tom's action.

"I'm going away for a bit, guv'nor," said the lad, who had winced a little at his father's boisterous good-humor, and seemed half ashamed of his conduct. "Webster and some other fellows have hired a yacht, and sail for Madeira to-morrow."

"By all means, my boy," cried Mr. Molyneux, secretly delighted that his son should leave England for awhile at this juncture; "and look here, Tom, while you are away I will settle matters with these friends of yours."

He produced rather a formidable list of names and figures as he spoke, and Tom started with surprise, as well he might, at perceiving how full and accurate was his father's knowledge of his pecuniary embarrassments. The old man cut short his son's confused protestation of gratitude and apology by saying good-humoredly:

"Well, well, you must turn over a new leaf, my boy. Reasonable economy must henceforth be the order of the day, and I hope, on your return, that you will settle down and reside permanently in the country."

He had it on the tip of his tongue to hint that he must be prepared to marry Lady Florence; but he wisely refrained. Nevertheless, he was as full of the project as ever, and after Tom's departure, he spoke to Lord Laburnum more plainly than he had hitherto done. His lordship, without pledging himself, gave him an encouraging reply; and he resolved to bring matters to a crisis immediately upon his son's return. The consequence was that the task of settling with Tom's creditors proved quite an agreeable relaxation, and did not cause him a moment's ill-humor.

But he was very much startled and disgusted on hearing that his solicitor had been asked to accept service of a writ on Tom's behalf in an action for damages for breach of promise of marriage brought by Miss Fabian against her faithless lover.

The news upset him considerably, for such a scandal would set all the papers gossiping about his antecedents, while Tom would hardly fail to cut a ridiculous figure in the witness-box. Old Mr. Molyneux soon arrived at the conclusion that the action must be compromised at any cost, for the sake of his own dignity, not to mention the projected alliance with the Laburnums. He rushed up to town in quite a frantic state, and disregarding the advice and protestations of his solicitor, insisted that Miss Fabian's claim should be settled forthwith at any sacrifice, in order to avert the danger of the affair finding its way into the papers.

He was successful in his main object, but rich man as he was, he almost groaned when he sat down to write the check that Miss Fabian's advisers demanded. The amount was represented by no less than five figures, and the worst of it was that he got no sympathy whatever from his solicitor, who declared that by going to trial, or even by holding out, he might have saved the greater part of the money.

In spite of his great relief that the threatened scandal had been averted, old Mr. Molyneux soon began to regret the sacrifice he had made, and to fret about his enormous loss. He was not by any means a penurious man, but, like all parvenus, he keenly appreciated the value of money. He did not mind what he spent so long as he had something to show for his outlay; but in this instance the result attained was entirely negative. Every one is inclined to underrate a danger when it has passed, and Mr. Molyneux could not help suspecting that he had been too easily frightened. This uncomfortable reflection worried him a good deal, particularly when he learned that Lord Laburnum had made arrangements to take his family to the south of France for the winter. This did not look as if his lordship was very anxious about his daughter's marriage with Tom, and old Mr. Molyneux was seized with an ominous foreboding when he heard the news.

Tom returned after an absence of three or four months, and was evidently not a little apprehensive of the reception he would meet with. He had received some angry letters from his father, referring to the damages he had had to pay; and he therefore appeared nervous and embarrassed at their first meeting. But the old man, delighted at seeing him again, sought to put him at his ease by saying:

"I'm not going to allude to what has happened, my boy; I'm willing to let bygones be bygones."

"You are very good, father, but—but—"

"What is the matter?" inquired old Mr. Molyneux, as Tom paused in confusion.

"I still cling to the hope that you will consent to my marriage with Miss Fabian," said Tom desperately.

"What!" roared his father, with a great start.

"You see, guv'nor," proceeded Tom, "I'm in a much better position than I was before I went away. Then, as you justly pointed out, I was in debt, I had no capital, and I was altogether dependent upon you. But my debts are now paid, and as for capital—"

"Well, sir, what about capital?" interrupted the old man, too much amazed to be angry.

"There is the money you paid to Miss Fabian," said Tom, with a fleeting smile. "The interest on it would keep us from starving, and at least it is enough to buy and stock a farm with."

"But—but I paid the money because you broke your promise to marry her," urged his father, incredulously. "She would never marry you now."

"I think she would," replied Tom, in a confident tone.

"The fact is, sir, that I have been victimized," exclaimed old Mr. Molyneux, suddenly, as the truth flashed across his mind.

"Not exactly, father—at least, not yet," returned Tom, with great earnestness. "I hope you will not withhold your consent to our marriage. If you will consent, the money shall be paid back to you—every farthing. I don't wish to defy you, as it were, and both of us are willing to rely entirely, with regard to the future, upon your generosity."

Old Mr. Molyneux had turned purple in the face, and Tom was justly alarmed at his aspect. But before he could utter a word in reply, a man-servant brought in a note, remarking that a messenger was waiting to know if there was any reply. Mr. Molyneux opened the envelope half-absently, glanced hurriedly at the contents, and then gave vent to a muttered execration which apparently relieved his over-wrought feelings. After striding about the room for a few moments in great agitation, he suddenly halted in front of Tom, and cried in a voice of suppressed passion:

"You—you impudent, disrespectful, disobedient rascal! What did you say about the money?"

"I said every farthing would be returned to you," replied Tom, staring at his father.

"Very well," said the old man, abruptly; and he immediately sat down at the writing-table, and wrote a note with a tremulous hand. "Read that," he said to his son, when he had finished.

Tom, in his turn amazed and bewildered, read as follows:

Dear Lord Laburnum—It is very kind of you to hasten to inform me, on hearing of my son's return, that you have other views with regard to your daughter Florence. I ought, perhaps, to have mentioned that my son has been engaged to a Miss Fabian for some months, and that his marriage will take place immediately.

Yours faithfully, Jno. Molyneux.

"Oh, father. It is awfully good of you," cried Tom, with tears in his eyes.

"I expect Lord Laburnum will be riled," said old Mr. Molyneux, sulkily, as he folded up the note. "I doubt if I should have made £10,000 by allowing you to marry his daughter."—London Truth.

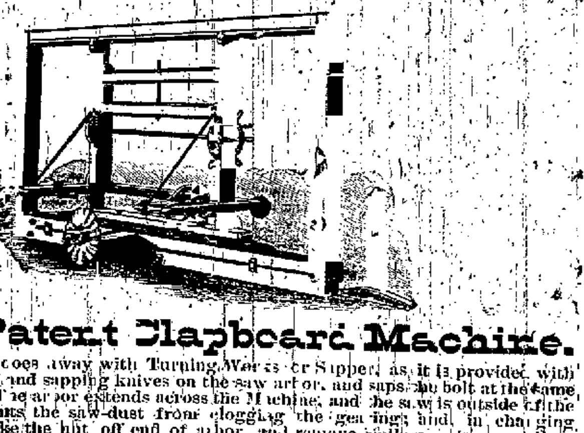
MANUFACTURERS OF THE



Davis Patent Clapboard Machine.

The Davis Patent does away with Turning Works or Sipper, as it is provided with three sets of collars and sapping knives on the saw arbor, and saps the bolt at the same time it is sawing. The arbor extends across the Machine, and the saw is outside of the frame, which prevents the saw-dust from clogging the gearings; and, in changing saws, you simply take the nut off end of arbor, and remove collars and saw without disturbing arbor.

The saw runs 2200 revolutions per minute, and the Machine will cut from 5 to 6 M. per day; an average of 500 per day over the old style machine.

SKIN AND BLOOD

Diseases from Pimples to Scrofula Cured by Cuticura.

Hundreds of letters in our possession, copies of which may be had by return of mail, repeat this story:—I have been a terrible sufferer for years from Diseases of the Skin and Blood; have been obliged to shun public places by reason of my disfiguring humors; have had the best physicians; have spent hundreds of dollars and got no relief until I used the Cuticura Remedies, which have cured me, and left my skin and blood as pure as a child's.

COVERED WITH SALT RHEUM.

Cuticura Remedies are the greatest medicines on earth. Had the worst case of Salt Rheum in this country. My mother had it twenty years, and in fact died from it. I believe Cuticura would have saved her life. My arms, breast and head were covered for three years, which nothing relieved or cured until I used the Cuticura Resolvent internally, and Cuticura and Cuticura Soap externally.

Newark, O. J. W. ADAMS.

HEAD, FACE AND BODY RAW.

I commenced to use your Cuticura Remedies last July. My head and face and some parts of my body were almost raw. My head was covered with scabs and sores, and my suffering was fearful. I had tried everything I had heard of in the East and West. My case was considered a very bad one. I have now not a particle of Skin Humor about me, and my case is considered wonderful.

Decatur, Mich. MRS. S. E. WHIPPLE.

ECZEMA FROM HEAD TO FEET.

Charles Eayre Hinkle, Jersey City Heights, N. J., writes: "My son, a lad of twelve years, was completely cured of a terrible case of Eczema by the Cuticura Remedies. From the top of his head to the soles of his feet was one mass of scabs. Every other remedy and physicians had been tried in vain."

NOTHING LIKE CUTICURA.

The half has not been told as to the great curative powers of the Cuticura Remedies. I have paid hundreds of dollars for medicines to cure diseases of the blood and skin, and never found anything yet to equal the Cuticura Remedies.

Providence, R. I. CHAS. A. WILLIAMS.

CUTICURA REMEDIES

Are sold everywhere. Price: Cuticura, 50c.; Resolvent, $1.00; Soap, 25c. Prepared by the Potter Drug & Chemical Co., Boston, Mass.

Cancer of Tongue!

A Case Resembling that of Gen. Grant.

Some ten years ago I had a scrofulous sore on my right hand which gave me great trouble, and under the old-time treatment was healed up, and I supposed I was well. I found, however, it had only been driven into the system by the use of potash and mercury; and in March, 1882, it broke out in my throat, and concentrated in what the doctors denominated cancer. I was placed under treatment for this disease. Some six or seven of the best physicians in the country had me at different times under their charge, and among them three specialists in this line. [illegible] another would exhaust their skill and drop me, for I grew worse continually. The cancer had eaten through my cheek, destroying the roof of my mouth and upper lip, then attacked my tongue, palate and lower lip, destroying the under lip entirely and half my tongue, eating out to the top of my left cheek bone and up to the left eye. From a hearty robust woman of [illegible] pounds I was reduced to a mere frame of skin and bones, almost unable to turn myself in bed. I could not eat any solid food, but subsisted on liquids. My tongue was so far gone I could not talk. The anguish of mind and the horrible sufferings of body which I experienced never can be revealed. Given up by physicians to die, with no hope of recovery upon the part of friends who sat around my bedside expecting every moment to be my last. In fact, my husband would place his hand on me every now and then to see whether I was alive or not, and at one time all decided that life was extinct, and my death was reported all over the country.

Such was my wretched and helpless condition the first of last October (1884), when my friends commenced giving me Swift's Specific. In less than a month the eating places stopped and healing commenced, and the fearful aperture in my cheek has been closed and firmly knitted together. A process of a new under lip is progressing finely, and the tongue which was almost destroyed is being recovered, and it seems that nature is supplying a new tongue. I can talk so that my friends can readily understand me, and can eat solid food again. I am able to walk about where I please without the assistance of any one, and have gained fifty pounds of flesh. All this is under the blessing of a merciful Heavenly Father, is due to Swift's Specific. I am a wonder to all, and a marvel to all my friends, hundreds of whom have known of my intense sufferings, and have visited me in my afflictions. While I am not entirely well, yet my gratitude is none the less devout, and I am confident that a perfect recovery is now in sight. If any doubt these facts, I would refer them to Hon. John H. Traylor, State Senator of this district; to [illegible] my neighbor, Dr. T. S. Bradfield, of LaGrange, Ga., or to any other person living in the southern part of Troupe County, Ga.

STATE OF MAINE.

PENOBSCOT, ss. Court of Probate, September Term, A. D. 188[illegible].

Upon the petition of Lydia W. Smith, of Hampden, in said County, a creditor of Seth C. [illegible], late of Bangor, in said County, deceased, that the administration of the estate of said deceased may be granted to her, said Lydia, or some other suitable person,

Ordered, That said petitioner give public notice to all persons interested, by causing a copy of the order thereon, to be published three weeks successively in The Bangor Daily Whig and Courier, a newspaper published in Bangor, in said County, citing them to appear at a Court of Probate to be held in said County, at the Probate Office in said Bangor, on the last Tuesday in October next, at ten of the clock in the forenoon, and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted.
